

Teacher's Pet: Groomed At School

SEXUALLY ABUSED STUDENTS SPEAK OUT
TO ESCAPE THEIR TEACHER'S ABUSE

School brings its fair share of worries: keep your grades up, make friends, avoid bullies, but there is also a terrible danger that can occur to any student, in any school: sexual predators. This documentary lets three brave victims reveal how their teacher's insidious manipulations led to molestation. The survivors speak out on how they broke free from the vicious cycle of sexual abuse.

Horrific teachers preying on innocent students could be lurking at any school. Through gripping first-hand accounts, this revealing documentary offers a detailed examination of what made the students targets, the predators' first moves, how the abuse persisted, and finally how the victims escaped and survived.

Accompanied by professional analysis, these captivating personal stories take a nuanced approach that respects the victims, their ability to cope with a tragic past and encourages action. The warning signs and support strategies shown are essential viewing to prevent future students from falling victim to this terrible fate.

This documentary serves as a reminder that every survivor has a voice and it's never too late to speak out.

T

Genre: Documentary

Duration: 1x60'

Production Company: Crackit Productions

Broadcaster: 5 Star (UK)

WATCH MORE >